Juggernaut Books, New Delhi, 2016. Soft cover. Book Condition: New. 22 cms. xi+352pp. On November 21, 2008, ten men boarded a boat in Karachi and hijacked an Indian fishing trawler, killing four of the vessels crewmen and forcing its captain to sail toward India. Four miles off the coast of Mumbai, these men abandoned the trawler for inflatable speedboats. Within hours, multiple targets in Mumbai were hit in a series of simultaneous and well-coordinated attacks. Over the course of three days, more than 170 people would be killed and more than 300 injured. The Mumbai attacks placed Lashkar-e-Taiba high on the list of the world's most fearsome terrorists. A complex and powerful group that rose to prominence with Pakistani state support, Lashkar was formed through years of training in the trenches of Kashmir, and is known for its skill in executing efficient and effective insurgencies. In this compelling book, Stephen Taniel charts the development of Lashkar from a small resistance to the largest, most feared, organization operating in Kashmir, India, and Pakistan today, offering insight into the nature of the threat it poses, and how that threat has evolved since the Mumbai attacks.
