Reviews

The most effective ebook i possibly go through. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. Its been designed in an extremely basic way and it is just after i finished reading this ebook by which basically transformed me, modify the way i believe.

Would tremble out, and fall away, and fade, And so I mused and mused, until I made A text at last of the melodious cry, And drew this moral (was it fetched too far?) Life s inequalities so underlie The things we have, so rest in what we are, That each must steadfast to his nature keep, And one must soar and sing, and one must weep. TO MY FRIEND. If we should see one sowing seed With patient care and toil and pain, Then to some other garden speed And sow again; And so right on from day to day, And so right on through months and years, Watering the furrows all the way With rain of tears; Ne er gladdened by the yellowing top Of harvest, nor of ripened rose, Till suddenly the plough should stop, --The work-day close; Should we not, as hte day ran by, Wonder to see him take no ease, And cry at nightfall, Vanity Of Vanities! And yet t is thus, my friend, the hours And days go by, with you and me. We, too, are sowing seeds of flowers We never see. Sometimes we sow in soil of sin; Sometimes where choking thorns abound; And sometimes cast our good seed in Dry, stony ground. Our stalks spring up and fade and die Under the burning noontide heat, And hopes and plans about us lie All incomplete; And as the toilsome days go by Unrespited with flowery...
