Excerpt: . . . the date of the British patent, if there be a demand for it; otherwise his patent can be revoked. It is conceivable that the strict and broad application of this provision would shut out from the United Kingdom every foreign manufactured product which could be made, and which the British preferred should be made, in this country. Section 24 provides that any person interested may petition the board of trade, alleging that the reasonable requirements of the public have not been satisfied, and praying for the grant of a compulsory license or the revocation of the patent. If the parties do not come to an agreement themselves, and if satisfied that a prima facie case has been made out, the board of trade shall refer the petition to the court. If the allegation is proved to the satisfaction of the court, the patentee may be ordered to grant licenses on such terms as the court deems just, or if licenses will not in the courts opinion satisfy the reasonable public requirements, the patent may be revoked by order of the court. Another important section (38) makes unlawful any contract prohibiting or restricting the purchaser, lessee, or licensee of a patented article or process from using any article or process supplied or owned by any person other than the seller, lessor, or licensor, or his nominees; or requiring the purchaser, lessee, or licensee to acquire from the seller, lessor, or licensor, or his nominees, any...
