Ten o'clock on that particular day of the week is the hour of rising. The boy therefore - who, it should be said, was an alien on the street, having resided there only a few weeks - did not expect to meet or greet any of his new friends. But he was agreeably disappointed. Miss Alice O Shea, residing in the neat two-story frame house which faces and blocks Pike Street, casting a chance look out of her window as she was engaged in the completion of her simple Saturday-morning toilet - much simpler, of course, than on the days when school was held - caught sight of the ruddy stranger. Alice, aged eleven, good-natured almost to a fault, liked the new boy. He was good-natured, too. Had he not presented her with an apple a few days ago, apropos of nothing? Had he not always greeted her with a smile? When she got up her birthday party she had settled that among her guests Bob Ryan should be the Abou Ben Adhem of the list, and lead all the rest. Some children there are who bask in smiles. They love the cheery face. Alice was just that sort of girl. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
