Excerpt from Labor and Power Used for Farm Enterprises: Indiana, 1950 The Bureau of Agricultural Economics makes annual estimates of the total man-hours of labor used in farming in the nine geographic divisions and in the United States. 1/ Comparable data have also been developed for each State for 2 years. G/ These estimates are made by applying average man-hours per acre or per head to the official estimates of acres of crops and numbers of livestock. Man-hours per acre or per head vary from year to year, depending on yields, degree of mechanization, and other factors. The labor rates per acre and per head are not the result of special surveys; they are estimates based on secondary sources such as farm-management reports, studies of costs of production, and analyses of changes in farm practices and mechanization. These sources provided considerable data for some enterprises and areas and a great deal less for others.
